I moved to Loddington many years ago because it was a village. I did not want to live in an urban area with busy roads and an increase in housebuilding. All green areas in Loddington help to give the village its ambience and they should retain their (HVI) Historically and Visually Important status.

We should be protecting our heritage, not destroying it.

During the last few years numerous homes in the village have been sold at 'affordable' prices giving people the opportunity to move here. We need to maintain the 'rural' character of our village so that it remains attractive to new residents
